CONFIDENT COMMUNICATION POEM

Getting out of my comfort zone
Something I can decide to do

Just say yes
Try something new
Don't care about what others think

Simple.

The challenge came.

Three thousand points
Counting them up like stars
A list of tasks so easy
Until I had to try so hard.

Suddenly,
Leaving my [redacted] comfort zone
Didn't feel so comfortable

Some things were embarrasing
Others made me wonder
Do people think I look stupid?
Or am I just trying to hard?

Then I realized,
Sometimes the biggest prohibiters in life is not the challange

It's me

So I kept going

Not every task was easy
Not every task didn't carry embarrassment
But I understood confidence can be hard
It can be embarrassing

Sometimes doing the uncomfortable
Allows confidence to flow
Taking risks
Allows for growth to flourish

This challange didn't make me fearless

It made me willing to try

Growth:

Don't let discomfort make every decsion
Don't talk yourself out of the uncomfortable
That's growth

I don't have to know how something turns out
So I give myself permisson to try

Sometimes,
the best thing that can come out of doing something new is discovering what I was capable of all along

I'll generate new ideas
And I'll go foward with them.